Gard, Stacey To Be Eligible Saturday After Certification

Two Democrats elected to fill unexpired terms in county offices are expected to take over their courthouse duties next Saturday after receiving their commissions.

The first of the new Democratic office-holders to begin their terms will be R. Max Gard of Lisbon, R. D. 4 and Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana.

Gard defeated Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool for an unexpired term as county commissioner and Stacey won out over John W. Peterson of East Palestine for an unexpired term as clerk of courts. Both terms will end Jan. 1, 1961.

The County Election Board today certified the official results of Tuesday's general election to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The board also forwarded the certificates of election for Gard and Stacey along with the $5 fees required for their commissions, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

The commissions will be issued by Gov. C. William O'Neil through the secretary of state's office and returned to the clerk of courts office at Lisbon in time for the two men to qualify next Saturday at the start of a new pay period, O'Hanlon explained.

Both men already have filed the required expense statements under the Corrupt Practices Act.

Gard reported receipts of $22 and expenses of $223.50 while Stacey said he spent $120.51 in his campaign. Bernard Freeman, (Turn to Page 11, Column 5)

Vorndran, Bell Deny Rumor Of Dissension

Both the Columbiana County auditor and auditor-elect today denied rumors that there is dissension between the two.

County Auditor I. J. Vorndran issued a statement Thursday that he "has invited Mr. (Kenneth) Bell, auditor-elect, to come to my office anytime to obtain help and information concerning his duties prior to the time he will take office in March."

Vorndran indicated he revealed no invitation publicly because of reports he has failed to offer to aid Bell.

Bell said at Wellsville today that he had received an invitation from Vorndran "even before the election."

Bell said he is not planning on visiting the Jefferson County auditor's office but rather is going to learn the job at Lisbon.

"I will begin in January full time at the office to study under Vorndran. In the meantime, I will visit the office as much as possible," Bell said.

Bell said Vorndran has been "very courteous" and has offered to explain all the duties. "On election night, Vorndran congratulated me and again extended the invitation to visit the office anytime," he said.

Bell will take office March 9. Bell, a Democrat, defeated Vorndran at Tuesday's election.

Wrong-Way Driver Blamed

7 Killed, 1 Hurt In Pike Collision

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — Alive but incoherent, a wrong-way turnpike driver was the only survivor today of a head-on collision that killed seven persons. A state patrolman was speeding to head him off when the crash came.

Why was John M. Hines Jr., 41, of Detroit, headed east in a westbound lane? Ohio Turnpike officials tried to piece together clues today, but admitted it was guesswork.

Hines was reported in fair condition at a hospital, but in no condition to be interviewed.

Six members of a Jamestown, N. Y. family and Hines' passenger, Mrs. Claudia Brooks, 45, also of Detroit, were killed in the turnpike's worst crash since it opened Oct. 1, 1955.

In the other car Friday night were George N. Bentley, 32, of Jamestown, his wife Della and their four boys, aged 18 months, and 3, 12 and 13 years.

Patrolmen found an oil-stained toll ticket indicating Hines had entered the turnpike at Exchange No. 5, Stony Ridge. The time was blurred. Stony Ridge is a little east of Toledo, at Milepost 70, counting eastward from the Indiana line.

There was no report of trouble at Freemont Interchange No. 6, at Milepost 92, nor at the service plaza at Milepost 100.

But the patrol's log shows a patrolman stopped at Castalia maintenance building, on the north side between Milepost 107 and 108, to report an eastbound car in the westbound lane. A radio message went out at 11:20 p.m. and the pike headquarters in Berea told a cruising car to give chase.

Sgt. J. F. White estimated today the speeding cruiser reached within three or four miles of the wrong-way car. At 11:25 the collision occurred near Milepost 111.

In most places a medial strip about 6 feet deep separates the two lanes, but sometimes it is possible for a car to cross the 50-foot-wide strip and remains upright if handled properly. At the service plaza a car crossing the medial strip would attract attention on both sides.

The other possibility was that Hines' car used an emergency crossover intended only for patrol and maintenance vehicles. These crossovers bear signs saying "violators will be prosecuted." One is located near the Castalia maintenance building.

Investigation Set In $15,000 Grocery Blaze

Fireman Remains In Hospital After Collapsing At Scene

Firemen were expected to resume an investigation today to determine the cause of a fire that resulted in the loss of approximately $15,000 to a grocery, restaurant and warehouse in downtown East Liverpool late Friday afternoon.

One fireman remains in City Hospital today after collapsing while fighting the blaze in the buildings occupied by Bennett's Grocery, Instant Lunch and the warehouse of the Triangle Products Co.

John Taylor is in "fairly good" condition, hospital authorities said.

Firemen said Taylor recently returned to duty after being ill with pneumonia. When he collapsed, firemen used a respirator until an ambulance arrived and he was taken to the hospital and placed in an oxygen tent.

Asst. Chief James Pelley said the loss to the three businesses and damage to the two buildings might be conservative.

There was extensive fire, smoke and water damage to Bennett's Grocery operated by W. F. McEldowney and Instant Lunch, occupying a frame and brick building on W. 6th St., while Al Cohen estimated $2,000 damage to restaurant supplies in the Triangle Products Co. warehouse on the rear of the lot.

There also was damage to two apartments. One is occupied by Mrs. Nellie Bosco while the other is rented but unoccupied at present.

Maurice Rapport, owner of both structures, said he has not fixed the damage to the buildings. It was "considerable," he added.

Officials of the County Election Board removed records of Tuesday's general election along with registration books as a precautionary measure but there was no damage. The board's office is in an adjoining three-story brick structure also owned by Rapport. Firemen said they were called at 4:19 p. m. by an unidentified woman.

The blaze started in some rubbish in a passageway back of the grocery but what ignited the rubbish was not determined.

Last Stage Misfires
Third Moon Rocket Fired, But Fails To Reach Outer Space

Pioneer II Soared Only 1,000 Miles

Air Force Device Disintegrated Over East-Central Africa

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The Air Force launched its third moonrocket early today but failed to get it into outer space when its third stage misfired.

It rose only about 1,000 miles—only a fraction of the 220,000 mile distance to the moon.

The 52-ton rocket took off in perfect form at 2:30 a.m. EST.

Less than 10 minutes later, the Air Force reported that all the rocket's three main stages had fired. It said the launching "has now been accomplished."

But within a few minutes a radio test showed that the third stage failed to ignite.

In Washington, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said "At this time we don't know why the third stage did not fire."

NASA scientists studied data obtained from tracking stations and announced about two hours after the launching that the rocket reached an altitude of about 1,000 miles before falling back into the earth's atmosphere.

The agency said it entered the atmosphere over east-central Africa—about 7,500 miles from Cape Canaveral—and burned up due to air friction.

Two more lunar probes have been authorized, both as Army projects. The initial Army attempts may be made in the first week in December, although there has been no official announcement in this regard.

A possible portent of trouble for the Air Force moon rocket—dubbed Pioneer II—came when its planned firing early Friday was postponed 25 hours because of technical trouble.

The first Air Force try fizzled on Aug. 17 when the big rocket blew up after 77 seconds of flight.

But on Oct. 11, a second 88-foot rocket traveled about 90,850 miles toward the moon before falling back into the atmosphere and burning up from friction.

Scientists had hoped to get today's ill-starred rocket to within 50,000 miles of the moon, and possibly into orbit around it.

Chances of Pioneer II being a success had been rated in advance at less than 1 in 10.

In its announcement, NASA said Pioneer II reached an estimated maximum speed of about 16,000 miles an hour—well below the 23,900 miles an hour scientists said was needed to send a rocket to the region of the moon.

A spokesman said the rocket receives more than 7,000 letters a month.

MOON ROCKET FIZZLES. The third Air Force Lunar Probe is shown starting skyward in a blast of smoke and flame at Cape Canaveral, Fla., early this morning, but the 52-ton rocket's third stage failed to fire and it failed to get into outer space, rising only 1,000 miles and burning up over East-Central Africa. Tax Repeal Aftermath

Council Will Act On City Personnel And Wage Cuts

Council will meet Monday to determine what personnel and wage cuts must be made and which municipal services must be reduced to stay within a sharply curtailed budget resulting from defeat of the income tax ordinance.

President B. E. Warner said Council will confer with Auditor H. J. Gallimore to obtain figures on the amounts available for each department operation through the end of the year and "discuss fully what cutbacks must be made."

Riding on the decision are the jobs of more than two dozen employees added to the payroll after the income tax went into effect May 1, including 9 policemen, 5 firemen, 12 adult school crossing guards and a full-time dog warden.

ALSO AT STAKE is a general 10 per cent pay increase voted city employees' their first since 1952.

In its six-month life, the tax brought in approximately $115,000. A final collection now is being set up by the city tax office, covering the period from Oct. 1 to the official cut-off date of the tax, next Wednesday night.

After Council decides upon the changes that must be made, it will be necessary to enact legislation for such reductions as elimination of jobs or cutbacks in wages. Legislation to implement the changes will be taken up at the next regular Council meeting Nov. 17.

Meanwhile, it developed today that an ambiguity in the wording of the law on the effective date of initiative and referendum ordinances means that the income tax will die at midnight Wednesday, not at midnight Thursday, as announced previously.

THE STATE LAW says an initiative ordinance will take effect "on the fifth day after" the official certification of returns by the Election Board. Previously, the wording of the law had been construed to mean that the ordinance would die five days after the certification. The wording actually means that the effective date is four days after certification or "on the fifth day" afterward.

The County Election Board issued a ruling to that effect today after consulting Friday afternoon with Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw, its legal advisor.

In response to an enquiry, Frank Blakeley, tax office supervisor, said both individuals and businesses will pay the tax on all earnings or profits up to midnight Wednesday.

WHEN THE TAX went into effect, the ordinance was worded in such a way that there was no withholding from wages until the first full pay period after May 1.

However, the ordinance does not provide for any such "forgiving" of part of the tax at the expiration of the law. So employers who have pay periods that continue after the expiration of the tax will be required to withhold for the period through next Wednesday, then compute the balance of an employee's earnings without the tax.

Before discussing the cutbacks Monday, Council will meet in special session at 7 p.m. to consider legislation that would convert into bonds the last $200,000 to $250,000 in notes issued to finance the sewage disposal system.

It will be a general obligation issue supported by revenue from the sewage system. That means that proceeds from sewage charges will be used exclusively to retire the bonds—if the income is sufficient.

IF THE SEWAGE revenue proves insufficient, the bonds become a general obligation against the city.

The exact amount of the bond issue has not been determined, pending completion of the legislation over the weekend.

Santa's Due Nov. 29

Balloon Parade Arranged To Open City Yule Season

Santa Claus will lead a parade of giant balloon figures through downtown East Liverpool Nov. 29 — the Saturday after Thanksgiving — to usher in the Christmas shopping season.

Plans for the parade were announced today by the East Liverpool Merchants Association, which will sponsor the holiday season curtain-raiser in co-operation with the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The parade will be staged by Jean Gros, Inc., at Pittsburgh, which presents similar spectacles in major cities throughout the nation. The parade scheduled here will be presented the preceding day in Harrisburg, Pa., then the huge inflatable figures will be rushed across the Pennsylvania Turnpike by truck to East Liverpool.

The parade will be in the form of a pageant based on the famous poem, "The Night Before Christmas." Some of the balloons are propelled on light trailers and the others are carried by squads of boys. More than 100 persons will comprise the crew that will stage the parade.

The sponsoring organizations pointed out the inflated balloons are "entirely safe," as they are filled only with air — not a combustible gas.

The parade is scheduled to move at 1 p. m. Formed on E. 4th St., it will move up Broadway to E. 5th St., then west on 5th St. to Jefferson St., north to 6th St., east on 6th St. to Walnut St. and then south to E. 4th St., where it will disband.

Because they will be closed

Thursday, Nov. 27, for the Thanksgiving holiday, East Liverpool stores will remain open until 3:30 p. m. Nov. 29 to allow the parade crowd plenty of time to look over new Christmas merchandise.

Arrangements for the parade are being made by the ELMA Christmas activities committee, comprised of Ralph A. Finley, chairman, Harold Allison, Leslie Blumenthal and William Kozel. Charles Shriver, Jaycee president, has met with the group on preliminary arrangements for the parade.

The so-called "advice" columns have been popular for generations of newspaper readers. But the Ann Landers column has broken all records for popularity.

In it the author answers questions from newspaper readers in all parts of the country.

SHE DISCUSSES marital problems, mother-in-law problems, social and business relationships, child discipline, teen attitudes and dating problems.

And then there are "what to do about the drinker" and "what to do about the gambler."

She talks over how to strengthen family ties, the use of social agencies, the "office romance," dotting parents, problem children, Lothario problems, how to cope with a siren, how to settle family arguments, the whole gamut of human interest.

Ann Landers is a pen name. In real life, this Ann Landers is Mrs. Jules Lederer of Chicago, attractive housewife and mother of a 17-year-old daughter. Her husband is president of a successful manufacturing concern.

1,200 Midland Assessment Notices Sent

Tax Rates Outlined To Property Owners Under New Program

About 1,200 notices of changes in assessments were mailed Thursday to Midland property owners, Robert Zapsic, chief Beaver County assessor, announced.

He said that with the recent voluntary offer by the Crucible Steel Co. to continue paying its machinery tax for the next five years, Midland's millage rate will remain about the same as this year.

Midland's borough millage rate next year will be 15 mills instead of this year's 16. The school district's millage rate next year will be 23, the same as this year, Zapsic said.

Without Crucible's offer, the millage rate for the borough would have jumped to 20 mills and for the school district to 30 next year. Midland can still expect to pay a higher property tax due to higher assessments, he said, but not as high as if Crucible had not offered to continue paying the machinery tax.

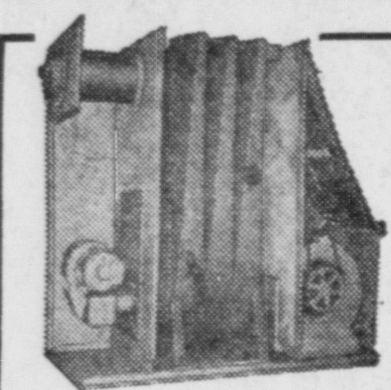

He said that the Beaver County commissioners have had conferences with leading industries of the county from time to time since Jan. 1, 1956, asking them voluntarily to continue paying the machinery tax until it is feasible to discontinue.

According to a Pennsylvania state law, Beaver County and 63 others are setting up a new tax program effective Jan. 1.

Talks are being arranged by commissioners with the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. of Aliquippa in efforts to have the company continue its tax payments in order to spare property owners a sharp rise.

Earlier this week, notices of assessments, were sent to Shippingport, Hookstown and Frankfort.

4 Arrested In Burglaries, Safecrackings

STEBENVILLE — Ohio and West Virginia authorities sought today to round up additional loot they said stemmed from at least 60 robberies and safecrackings in the two states over the past three months.

Four men arrested Friday were identified as members of a ring responsible for the thefts. Jefferson County Sheriff Clarence Ebert and others said the four admitted their roles.

Richard Haines, 27, and his next-door neighbor, Paul Clark, 27, were taken into custody at their homes at Brilliant, eight miles south of here.

Arrested in Canton were Veryl D. Miller, 25, also of Brilliant, and Ray Furbree, 26, Moundsville, W. Va. Officers were searching for at least one more man early today.

The arrests, Ebert said, cleared up robberies and safecrackings at seven places in Ohio County, W. Va.; eight in Marshall County, W. Va.; and eight in Jefferson, 20 in Stark and at least 38 in Tuscarawas, Harrison and Coshocton counties in Ohio.

Loot recovered immediately, in the form of cash and a variety of merchandise, was regarded as the beginning of a large amount which might have an eventual value of as much as $100,000.

Tickets also may be purchased from Miss Hamilton or Mrs. Akins.

Nov. 19 is the deadline for ticket returns on the mailing list. Posters have been distributed to the schools and business places.

596 With Red Connections Bid For Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department's security chief said today 596 persons with a record of Communist affiliations have applied for passports since the Supreme Court ruled the department lacks authority to deny passports in such case.

Roderic L. O'Connor, administrator of the department's bureau of security and consular affairs, gave the figures in a speech prepared for a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting.

O'Connor made no direct criticism of the court's decision last June that Congress had not given the department authority to turn down passport requests because of a citizen's Communist associations.

But he urged wide support for legislation which he said will be proposed to "remedy this dangerous situation."

Rocket

probably flew slightly less than 45 minutes.

Although Pioneer II apparently failed in its major mission, it rose high enough for the automatic radio signals from the payload to be received for 16 minutes by a tracking station at Jodrell Bank in England. The signals were received between 2:45 and 3:01 a.m.

There were several other reports of signals picked up, including one from International Telephone and Telegraph-MacKay Radio at Southampton, N.Y.

Rain had fallen on the launching site Friday, but the night was relatively clear when Pioneer II blasted off about one minute behind schedule.

To thousands of observers on the beaches along the Florida east coast and to scores of newsmen watching from a vantage point 134 miles from the launching site, the firing appeared normal. But the missile's action shortly afterward caused doubts.

The rocket climbed through some clouds and reappeared about two minutes after launching.

It was then that a burst of flame could be seen. Some observers said it appeared to them that the rocket was breaking apart.

However, Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, test station commander here, announced:

"The second and third stages of the U.S. three-stage experimental space vehicle launched at the Atlantic missile range at Cape Canaveral at 2:30 a.m. EST today have been fired successfully."

"The launching of the experimental space probe vehicle has now been accomplished."

Shortly afterward, the Air Force had to backtrack.

It announced that "Doppler velocity indications are that the third stage did not ignite."

The Doppler radio device that was aboard the rocket is a system by which signals from the ground to the rocket, and return signals, indicate speeds at a given moment.

Later, a spokesman for NASA, which has over-all direction of the moonshot experiments, said first and second stage operation was normal and "velocity was as planned."

The spokesman said separation of the third stage from the second stage and the payload was achieved but that data indicated "no velocity gain by the third stage."

The 26.3 pounds of instruments aboard the rocket included an infrared scanning device to enable the probe to get crude pictures of the far side of the moon and relay its impressions back to earth—provided it had attained a lunar orbit.

The trip to the moon would have taken 2.6 days, or until next Monday afternoon.

Also aboard the space probe were four devices contained in Pioneer I. The probe was sterilized to avoid contaminating the moon, on the remote chance it might have hit there.

In addition, the space vehicle contained an instrument to count cosmic rays.

Standard devices in the lunar probe were an instrument to record magnetic fields of the earth and the moon, one to measure impacts by micrometeorites, one to determine the extent of deadly radiation in space.

Midland Girl Chosen NAACP Chapter Queen

Mrs. Dorothy Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pope of Midland, was chosen NAACP queen at the meeting of the East Liverpool chapter Friday night at the Second Baptist Church.

Nathaniel C. Lee president of the Youngstown branch and guest speaker, crowned the queen. His topic was "Sense of Value." Caesar A. Peters, president, introduced the speaker.

Entertainment was provided by the Major and Minor Keys, a chorus of the Tri-State area, which is under the direction of Eugene Taylor of Wellsville. The guest soloist was Mrs. Gladys Peters Freeman of Youngstown.

Ex-Vet Bound Over In Kidnaping Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert Miller, 32, former veterans' hospital mental patient who was the object of an intensive manhunt here

Wednesday, has been bound to the grand jury under $2,500 bond on charges of kidnaping a juvenile for immoral purposes.

Judge Clarence Denning set the action in Police Court Friday afternoon. Miller waived examination. Miller is also charged in adjoining Clermont County with raping a 5-year-old girl he lured away from a church bingo social. He and the girl were tracked down in eastern Hamilton County about two hours after they were reported missing from the church.

If Voting Could Be Reformed

In the wake of every election, there is a spurt of interest in voting reform. These spurts of interest have accounted for all the improvements that have been made over the course of years.

One potential reform that suggests itself in the wake of the 1958 election is a system of separating voting for and against candidates running for office from voting on propositions that are nonpartisan in nature.

This would entail voting on two different occasions—once to decide races between political candidates, once to decide issues in which there is no element of partisanship.

Actually, this separation is achieved after a fashion in the practice of holding special elections on special issues and in the practice of submitting special issues at primary elections.

The reform, if it were to be made, would mean the addition of a special election day for the settlement of all special questions and issues of a nonpartisan nature.

There might very well be included in this special day the decisions on judicial races, too, which are nonpartisan. Judicial candidates are at a heavy disadvantage in trying to present their qualifications to an electorate that is alternately absorbed in red-hot partisan contests, or alienated because it does not like the contestants.

Ideally the nonpartisan issues would be decided at a safe distance from the partisan issues—say two weeks later. It would lead to additional expense, of course, but to say so would hardly be worthy of a society that seems willing to spend money without limit and give unstintingly of its time to almost everything, except the duties and obligations of citizenship in a republic.

There's Really Nothing To It

More than three million Ohioans who voted in the election last Monday saw the name of Asher W. Sweeney on their ballots.

More than 48 per cent of them indicated on their ballots they thought he should be Ohio's next secretary of state.

It was a curious vote of confidence that he drew at the polls, however, because he is not known to have made a single speech during the entire campaign, or even to have appeared in Ohio.

In the biographical information that he furnished to Ohio newspapers, Mr. Sweeney points out that his life since 1942, when he was drafted for military service, has been spent as follows:

He was released from military duty with the rank of lieutenant in 1946. He completed his law studies at Duke University, was admitted to the Ohio Bar, practiced law and was employed by the industrial relations department of Republic Steel Corp. in Youngstown until recalled to military duty in 1950. After service in Korea, for which he received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service, he has been performing primarily as legal adviser with the U.S. Army, with the rank of captain.

With due respect to Capt. Sweeney, his name might as well have been Joseph T. Ferguson last Tuesday. In fact, Joseph T. Ferguson was elected state treasurer over Roger Tracy, in the same way that Asher W. Sweeney almost was elected secretary of state over Ted W. Brown. The big thing last Tuesday was to be a Democrat.

If Capt. Sweeney had made just one speech in Cuyahoga County, where he piled up a thumping majority of 43,274 votes without saying a word, he, too, might have been "the people's choice" for an important state office now being filled capably by one of this country's outstanding experts on election machinery—Ted Brown.

Hand In Hand

Nothing demonstrates more forcefully the interdependence of an industry and the community which it serves than the healthy relationship between the Crucible Steel Co. and the Borough of Midland.

For years Midland residents have turned toward the mill for employment and the other advantages which go with a progressive industry. And for years Crucible Steel has turned to the residents of Midland to help supply the manpower and other services so essential to its operation.

They have walked hand in hand for mutual benefit.

The latest example of the cooperative attitude came this week when Crucible agreed to a voluntary property tax assessment well above its assigned amount.

The reason? Crucible again had the community's best interest at heart and appreciated its problems, which resulted from a change in the state tax structure, with a resulting loss of revenue to the borough.

As a neighbor with a vital economic interest, we applaud the forward-looking attitude of Crucible Steel. Midland's future seems secure in its hands.

The Once Over

Russia's plans to put a man on the moon have been eclipsed by its act in landing the entire Soviet state on a man. The world is getting a picture of a powerful nation, armed to the teeth to battle other states but declaring war on a 68-year-old individual and a fountain pen.

The Soviets "fired" the book verdict heard 'round the world. They have put a Presidium book criticism in orbit, doing more harm to the Soviet system in the eyes of the world than anything it's done in years.

In the minds of millions it has already lost the battle of the Soviet Union and its intercontinental missiles, atomic bombs and vast armies against Boris Pasternak.

Even among the dwellers in rocky caves and mud huts there is a revulsion against the low punch and "beanball."

THIS IS RUSSIAN propaganda in reverse. The Free World couldn't dream up a better break for the principles of freedom than has come from the shock felt globally over this strange battle of a nation against an author's uncringing opinions.

Our side hasn't been brilliant in its propaganda but it has never blundered like this into the error column.

The Russia-Pasternak war clearly indicates that if a Russian author wants to avoid trouble his book will bear this foreword:

"This book has been read by the Presidium and granted publication. Favorable reviews will be tolerated. High recognition will not result in persecution. The author will not be branded a pig, a Judas or a traitor even if he wins the highest prize in literature."

IF THE RUSSKIES had ignored the Nobel Prize and graciously allowed acceptance the incident would have passed almost unnoticed. But by raising a pitiless rumpus it made certain "Dr. Zhivago" is being asked for in book stores which up to now had thought it a medical volume.

Pasternak's appeal to Khrushchev was a heartbreaker in all languages.

It has lit a bright light that will move peoples of the earth more than the flash from any sputnik, big, small or medium.

GOTHAM GARAGES have upped rates for modern longer and wider cars. Detroit has succeeded in putting bumpers under autos; why can't it make the "fins" demountable?

With election a memory it seems good to tune into radio or TV and get real comedians instead of candidates for minor office. A lot

Lesson In A Hurry

There was a fire on W. 6th St. late Friday afternoon.

The flames and the smoke did their damage. The loss could have been worse—much worse—had not the proper fire-fighting equipment, in the hands of the necessary manpower, been available.

It's rather ironic that so quickly after repeal of the city income tax a situation should arise which would bring home so vividly one of the many advantages from the tax which we are about to lose.

Through the tax money, firemen had been added to the department and were receiving proper training. But now, with the money about to be cut off as the result of Tuesday's vote, the new firemen's days are numbered.

Naturally, the city income tax has nothing to do with whether we have fires or whether we don't have fires. But the tax could have played a most important part in their control.

Less adequate fire protection will be only one of the municipal losses resulting from the unthinking action of the voters, guided in too many instances by equally unthinking leaders.

of those paid election pitches even made the commercials for spaghetti sauce seem good. Two more years before you hear the kiddies groan as they tune in for a favorite program and hear that it has been cancelled for a political speech.

On Ed Murrow's four-way interview Admiral Rickover was so blunt and cold he seemed deeper under Arctic ice than the atomic submarine.

Just heard of a fellow who went to the polls and called out, "Where's the lever for off-track horse betting?" This tops the guy who called out, "I can't find the slot to put the coin into."

Marshal Montgomery's book could be retitled, "How I Won the World War" or "My Triumph Over Ike and Other Obstacles."

Silver Lining

To many members of Congress, knocked out of political jobs in last Tuesday's election, there is one morsel of consolation—they will get hefty pensions in their years of involuntary retirement.

Under the contributory pension plan through which members can qualify for annuities by paying 6 per cent of their annual $22,500 salary, pensions up to $18,000 are possible.

Generally speaking, the pension is based on 2½ per cent of the average of a member's five highest congressional pay years, multiplied by his number of years of service, with a top of close to 80 per cent of full pay.

The normal age requirement for retirement is 62 years, with a minimum of five years of service. However, even for those who do not meet that requirement, as quite a few did not last Tuesday, all is not lost. Members may draw reduced annuities at lower ages, if they have had a minimum of five years of congressional service. Added to that five years, for pension purposes, is any time a member spent in the armed services or in any other federal job covered by the government pension plan.

Pension provisions apply equally to senators and representatives. Instead of things being "tough all over," there will be a lot of better with the bitter for the Nov. 4 class of unemployed citizens when the ax falls next.

A Lesson For Republicans

By David Lawrence

The Good Samaritan Inn lies midway between Jerusalem and Jericho. On a sketching trip through the Holy Land earlier in the year, I passed this famous landmark of Christianity and read again the parable it commemorates.

Throughout all ages men have, like the good Samaritan who would not pass a fellow traveler in need, dedicated themselves to helping others and by so doing helped themselves. "In nothing do men more nearly approach the gods," said Cicero, "than in doing to their fellow man."

St. Paul wrote, "as we have therefore the opportunity, let us do good unto all men." And in another time and another place, Emily Dickinson wrote: "If I can ease one life the aching, or cool one pain, I shall not live in vain."

Labor Vote Machine Unmatched

By Victor Riesel

At 10 a.m. on the morning after Election Day an aide of Sen. Barry Goldwater told a long distance telephone caller that the political leader was "resting from the election excitement of last night."

The senator could rest well. Of all those who had hit labor head-on with a frontal attack, only he survived. Furthermore, those who know the senator knew he rested happy—for he did not retire until he revealed that he had contacted Sen. John McClellan to urge that the racket-busting committee open the fall season with a probe of money, manpower and, said the Arizona senator, some "racketeers" sent into the state to fight him.

Inside Sen. Goldwater's sleepy camp the word was that colleague McClellan had agreed. Investigators were already in the state. But outside of sunny, prosperous, almost fully employed Arizona, few regular Republican leaders rested well.

THEY COULD talk about getting into action that very morning after the big count. But they had little to match the far-flung, smooth and sophisticated network of campaign units which labor had hooked up across the nation this year.

Labor's machine, on the day after election, appeared to be by far more polished, more automated, better staffed, better financed and more strategically directed from local headquarters than anything political observers had yet seen.

The only Republicans who won were those who did not tangle with labor or did not raise a labor issue—and that went for Nelson Rockefeller in New York as well as for GOP congressmen in Wyoming.

Labor didn't do it this time with phone networks, car pools or baby sitters, alone.

Collectively it poured several million dollars into the fight against the right-to-work proposals. But there were no big sums spent by any central outfit.

The national AFL-CIO headquarters put out a movie, a book, and some literature. But friendly regional committees and local unions spent hundreds of thousands more on an additional movie, scores of major television shows and literally thousands of TV and radio spots.

THESE WERE as expertly produced and as skillfully timed on small networks from Vermont to Washington on the West Coast as anything Madison Ave. did for the Rockefeller campaign.

But this labor campaign, methodically decentralized, swept far beyond even the modern smooth-coated techniques. This time labor didn't attempt to fight alone.

In the state of Washington, for example, the union chiefs went to the small businessmen's organizations. These are made up of merchants who depend on the good will of union customers.

And, of course, on the daily, year-round cooperation of union workers in their stores and shops and on the floors of their small factories.

These merchants hit the hustings against the right-to-work laws and for the labor backed candidates. In Washington, the small businessmen also took some personal pleasure in fighting against proposals openly backed by the aircraft and electrical equipment corporations.

But what stands out in this truly vast campaign which defeated most of the right-to-work proposals and helped to elect 170 out of 248 major candidates labor endorsed is the fact that labor made this a bread and butter election.

TO DO THIS successfully the second and third echelon union managers and business agents by the tens of thousands stopped making speeches about registering and getting the vote out. They got themselves out.

For the first time they really went into the shops, the big plants and whipped up local union meetings for practical politics.

There was scarcely a local union which didn't hear that the right-to-work laws would result in the loss of jobs, the loss of seniority, the loss of high wages, the loss of the all vital grievance procedure, the loss of picketing rights, the loss of cost-of-living increases, the loss of power in future negotiations, the loss of pension and welfare benefits, the loss of restraints on outright firing and, in effect, the loss of their unions.

Against this kind of argument no Republican could win—even in states where there was no right-to-work issue—unless he denounced it.

With the manpower to sound off in thousands of union halls, labor apparently has built what for the moment is the most effective political force in the land.

Ike Faces Bumps

By Ralph McGill

ATLANTA

When the 86th Congress convenes with its greater Democratic strength, purpose and dynamics, it will not be, as the President so unworthily suggested, radical.

Lyndon Johnson, Democratic majority leader, will still be able to command party unity from all save two or three die-hard Dixie members.

In the more turbulent and more numerous House, Sam Rayburn will neither be stampeded nor diverted by mavericks, of which there will be a few.

The Congress will continue to do business about as usual. There will be no open vendetta with Mr. Eisenhower, despite his really unpardonable California speech.

Both Johnson, Rayburn and the veterans of the House and Senate are too wise for that. They will continue to go along with their own policies.

There will be a few times when the President will be rebuked and rebuffed. He cannot escape that. Indeed, he must already feel some remorse.

But there will be no "get even" campaign by the Democrats. That isn't good politics. It diverts attention from the real job.

NO PARTY LEADER of any stature would think of allowing the session to be wrecked by an open vendetta.

But the President will do well to know that at least a few times in the two years ahead he will suffer a few pains and give vent to an "ouch" or so.

It would be folly to suggest that nothing will be changed. The Democratic advances, first signaled by the victories in Maine, mean that the people have wearied of the Republicans.

The result was neither "landslide" nor "avalanche," to use two of the most shapely words in the bright lexicon of politics. We must use an equally weary word, "trend."

The Republicans were perhaps a little too pious and smug. The "hound's tooth" symbol soon became ridiculous. Then, too, promises are like the chickens of the old copybook axiom... they come home to roost. In 1952 Mr. Eisenhower promised to balance the budget, to halt inflation, to reduce taxes, to give the country a sound dollar.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Five bushers from Scout Troop 20 acted as ushers during the Ohio State-Iowa game at Columbus Stadium.

Five thousand football fans saw Martins Ferry High defeat East Liverpool, 31-0.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Albert Schramm Jr. was elected president of the Torch Bearers of the Salvation Army.

Three hundred members were set as the goal of the annual roll call campaign of the Wellsville Chapter of the American Red Cross.

TEN YEARS AGO—Journalism students from East Liverpool High School were among those who attended the 21st annual convention of Ohio journalism students at Columbus.

GOP Must Be On Guard Against 'Modern' Label

President Franklin D. Roosevelt used to say that congressional elections—when presidential candidates are not running—are essentially "local." He meant that differing personalities and local issues determine the outcome.

This same theory could to some extent explain why Sen. Barry Goldwater, conservative, won in Arizona, while Gov. Knight—the "liberal"—was defeated, along with the conservative, Bill Knowland. Each of these two Republican candidates in California got approximately the same number of votes. It might explain, also, why Rep. Keating, Republican, of New York, staunch supporter of President Eisenhower's policies, won a seat in the United States Senate on the same day that Nelson Rockefeller won the governorship by what was generally interpreted during the campaign as a deliberate maneuver of disassociation from the national administration in Washington.

But the significant news of the election is what happened as between two factions of the Republican party and what this may mean for 1960.

Already the claim is being widely made that "modern Republicanism" won and conservatism lost. It doesn't explain the defeat this week of ever so many "modern Republican" nominees for Congress.

President Eisenhower says the "spenders" in the Democratic party won.

"Modern Republicanism" may be understood by some observers to mean only a middle-of-the-road philosophy but to many conservatives it means "New Dealism," excessive spending and federal control of almost everything that has been local before, and a surrender to the labor union bosses on the "right to work" issue as voiced during the last campaign by Secretary of Labor Mitchell of the Eisenhower Cabinet.

THIS IS TOO early to make a prediction for 1960, but, as sure as day follows night, if the Republican party advertises its nominee as a "modern Republican" next time, it will increase the stay-at-home Republican vote, and surely elect the Democratic presidential nominee.

This correspondent has received many thousands of letters during the last two years from conservative Republicans.

The refrain of the dissenters is the same: "I'm fed up with 'modern' stuff, which to me means radicalism and bankruptcy. If I want a radical, I'll vote Democratic, or else I'll stay home on Election Day."

The idea that the Republican party can win an election by alienating the biggest single bloc of votes within its ranks is fallacious. On the editorial page of the "Wall Street Journal" appeared the two following comments on this week's election:

"If the Democrats have a mandate it is indeed an elusive one. Instead, the inescapable conclusion is that the Democrats didn't win the election. The Republicans committed suicide.

"We don't know whether the Republican party can recapture its sense of purpose. But we are pretty sure that if it doesn't, then the Republican nomination in 1960 will be completely worthless for Mr. Nixon, Mr. Rockefeller, or anyone else."

THIS IS but another way of saying that harmony and teamwork are essential to the success of a major party which has been defeated at the polls, and that there must be an agreement to support the fundamental principles that have built up the Republican party as a defender of the workingman's dollar and his freedoms.

"Me-Tooism"—that is, attempting to imitate the other party—doesn't win enough independent or "switch" votes to offset the losses within one's own ranks.

Nelson Rockefeller has a big future in American politics. He has the warmth of personality and fairness of an Eisenhower. But the governor-elect was ill-advised when he disassociated himself from the national administration during his campaign. He would have won anyhow, even if he had discussed national issues.

Now he is faced with the handicap that conservatives throughout the nation will suspect him of being a "modern Republican," which to conservatives is like waving a red flag at a bull.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER is being already heralded in the press as anti-Nixon, which is a further way to alienate conservatives in the Republican party. For, Vice President Nixon has shown himself to be an Eisenhower Republican who knows how to win conservatives to his side.

There's one thing many persons who are newcomers in politics do not understand, and that's the depth of feeling on historic issues.

Conservatism cannot be dismissed as obsolete. For if the dollar is forced downward from 50 cents to a quarter, voters who have fixed incomes will be threatened with real suffering.

They will express their protest at the polls against the "spenders" whose slogan in New Deal days was, "We shall tax and tax, spend and spend, and elect and elect."

It never cured the big unemployment of the depression.

Mr. Eisenhower was right in announcing on last Wednesday his firm adherence to conservative doctrine on the "spending" issue.

That is the way to begin at least to win back the millions of Republican voters who helped to commit "political suicide" by staying away from the polls this week.

It's the way to get the support of those "unmodern" Democrats, like Sen. Byrd of Virginia who have stood up against their spendthrift brethren from the North.

The budget is unbalanced by 12 billion dollars—will more spending ever balance it?

To go broke in government isn't "modern"—it's as old as the debacles of ancient Rome.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I suppose you have recovered from the ordeal by showdown by this time—and isn't it a wonderful feeling?

I keep thinking about that poor Pasternak who made the mistake of coming up with a wrong answer in Russia. Over there, you get one guess, and it had better be the right one.

There are no showdowns. All decisions are made behind closed doors, not in open polling places, and they are irrevocable. People who guess wrong cannot say, as they do here the day after election, "Wait until next time." There isn't any next time.

To each problem, there is one correct answer. For each situation, there is one proper point of view. In each set of circumstances, there is one right attitude.

Everything is black or white. Nothing is six of one and a half dozen of the other. There is no "comme ci, comme ça." Poor Pasternak can win a Nobel Prize in literature, in recognition of his caliber, but in Russia he is in disgrace because he did not say what he was supposed to say. He is too big to handle in his own home town.

I have brooded about this all my life, off and on, and have made up my mind it is a fundamental variation among people.

Some people feel lost if they lack an official answer to every question, while other people feel hemmed in if they do not have free inquiry, in which event they may discover there is no answer at all—just an endless dilemma.

These people keep searching and probing, because they are not satisfied with official answers. If someone tells them the atom cannot be split, they monkey around until they have split it.

If someone tells them they need look no further, because the truth is already revealed and to doubt it is heresy, they can't wait to become heretics.

This has made it possible for me to understand why there is more rancor and bitterness between people competing for followers among closed minds than you ever find among people who think people are better off with open minds.

When absolutists fall to fighting among themselves, anything goes, because no compromise is possible.

Contrast this with what happens when relativists bicker. Pretty soon, some relativist being philosophical about what he thinks he knows, says, "You may be right. I could be wrong. I frequently am wrong because it is not possible to be right all the time without pretending to be more than human."

Well, last Tuesday a lot of people looking for the truth and a great many who thought they had it clenched in their fists locked horns at the polls. There was no right and no wrong, really—just a showdown.

No wonder the Russians are baffled by this crazy country, where decisions are put up for grabs. About half of all the Americans who grew up here are baffled by it, too, because they never have understood the difference between being absolutely right and being relatively right.

Thanksgiving Designated

President's Proclamation Urged 'All To Give Thanks'

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has set aside Thursday, Nov. 27, as Thanksgiving Day. He urged all citizens to give thanks for the blessings which have "signaled our lot as a nation."

His proclamation follows: "At this season of the year we are reminded that the course of nature has brought us once again from the time of planting to the time of harvest, and we turn to Almighty God with heartfelt thanksgiving for His enduring providence."

"We are grateful for the plentiful yield of our soil and for the blessings of food and clothing and shelter that have succored us throughout the year. We rejoice in the beauty of our land; in every brave and generous act of our fellowman; and in the counsel of those ideals of liberty and justice which form the basis of our national life and the hope of international peace. For these and all the many spiritual and temporal benefactions betokening God's goodness, we offer up our prayers of gratitude."

"Let us be especially grateful for the religious heritage bequeathed us by our forebears and exemplified by the Pilgrims, who, after the gathering of their first harvest, set apart a special day for rendering thanks to God for the bounties vouchsafed to them."

"Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, designating the fourth Thursday of November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 27, 1958, as a day of national thanksgiving. On that day let us, in our homes and in our accustomed places of worship, give due expression of our thanks for the blessings which have signaled our lot as a nation, and let us ask for guidance in our striving for a better world for all men."

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed."

"Done at the city of Washington this thirty-first day of October in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-third."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	17	21-26
Monday	Matthew	18	23
Tuesday	Luke	24	13-32
Wednesday	Acts	2	42-47
Thursday	Acts	20	28-35
Friday	Mark	10	42-45
Saturday	Romans	15	1-7

It was Sunday morning. I had stopped only long enough on my journey for an hour of worship. The church was almost filled when I slipped into my seat. I knew no one. Yet between me and these worshippers there was a bond of fellowship. I bowed my head in worship of our Lord.

Then I thought of those in distant lands who must worship the Christ amidst ridicule and persecution. They too were my brethren and I prayed for them.

Through the church rang the triumphant notes of the opening hymn "Faith of our Fathers, Living Still."

My heart and my voice sang together as I remembered those of old who had labored and died that the Church might live. With fellow Christians, whom I did not know, I sang my promise:

"Faith of our fathers, holy faith
We will be true to thee till death."

If only everyone knew the joy and satisfaction that my faith brings to me! Start attending the services of the Church—and your life too will be enriched by that bond of Christian fellowship that has sustained millions through the centuries.

68 yards in pinning the sixth and final loss on young Earl Biederman's Red Knights, who closed their 1948 season last night.

With clever junior quarterback Bob Mackall directing the scoring machine and executing his keeper play specialty, the Potter offensive rolled up 300 yards rushing to Toronto's 145 and produced 10 touchdowns in the first three quarters of play.

Mackall, rapidly developing into one of the Ohio Valley's top running quarterbacks, personally accounted for 150 yards while scoring two touchdowns and adding a running conversion.

Senior halfback Dave Goodballet scored the third East Liverpool touchdown on a 24-yard dash in addition to setting up one of Mackall's by intercepting a Toronto aerial.

IT WAS strictly a team victory, with all the Potter backs adding punch to the running game and the defensive unit showing marked improvement.

Quarterback John Bucey flipped 23 passes for Toronto and hit receivers with 9 for 100 yards, but none was long enough to produce touchdowns.

Toronto's third-period touchdown was scored by fleet Bobby Edwards, who reeled off a run of 53 yards after squirming through a host of Potter defenders. He also added two points on a conversion by hauling in a pass from Bucey.

Sharing laurels with Mackall, Goodballet and Dave Zelch was a fullback Bill O'Neill, who appeared near top condition after missing more than half of this year's games because of injuries. The 170-pound senior averaged more than six yards per carry with 50 yards in eight attempts.

The Potters left most of the passing to Bucey. Mackall tried only four, with no completions. However, aerials weren't needed as the running attack clicked with precision in accounting for 15 first downs. Fumbles, a nemesis of this year's club, were few. The Potters bobbled only twice and recovered one.

ANOTHER bright spot was the punting of Cliff Goodballet, a sophomore, he kept the Potters out of trouble in booting twice for an average of 39 yards.

The Potters scored their first touchdown with 3:57 remaining in the opening quarter after Bucey got off a bad punt which carried only 16 yards from Toronto's 46 to the East Liverpool 38.

With sophomore John Goodballet, Mackall and O'Neill alternating in running chores, the Potters covered the 62 yards in nine plays and moved out to an 8-0 lead as Dave Goodballet slashed off tackle for 24 yards. Zelch crashed left end for the conversion.

In the second period, Dave Goodballet's interception of Bucey's pass at the Toronto 40 set up another touchdown. Goodballet hauled the ball back to the Toronto 22. Three plays later, Mackall sneaked over from one yard out. Zelch again bucked for the conversion and East Liverpool led 16-0.

With only 18 seconds left in the third period, the Potters moved out to a 24-0 lead and seemed to be coming on stronger by the minutes. Mackall's 15-yard run produced East Liverpool's third touchdown and he was successful on a keeper attempt for the conversion.

TORONTO'S score came with only 18 seconds left in the third period following the next kickoff. The Knights took over on their own 23, moved to the 47 on a jump pass from Bucey to Brown, and another to Brown, plus a buck by Fisher.

Edwards, the fastest man on Toronto's team, took a handoff on the next play, slipped into the Potter secondary and broke away for a 53-yard touchdown run for Toronto's lone score. Bucey hit LISBON—Continuing to pick up momentum after four mid-season setbacks, Lisbon scored in every period to defeat Jackson-Milton, 50-13, and gain its fifth triumph here Friday night.

Blue Devil quarterback Denny Reese scored two touchdowns and passed for another to pace the winner's attack.

Halfback Dick Treharn did all the scoring for the losers, plunging five yards in the first and second periods for markers and adding the extra point after the first TD on a placement.

Tom Brooks tallied the first Lisbon touchdown on a 55-yard dash—the longest scoring run of the evening. Reese added the extra points on a run.

In the second period, the Blue Devils drove 70 yards on two occasions for markers. Reese culminated the first march by scoring from the five, and on the second drive threw 30 yards to end Len McLaughlin for the extra points after the first tally.

In the second half, Lisbon drove for four touchdowns while holding the visitors scoreless.

Jack Williams scored from the three and Reese from the Jackson-Milton 12 for the Lisbon third period TD's, with Brooks running for the extra points after the first score.

Denny Johnson opened the fourth period scoring by going 20 yards for a marker and Brooks added the extra points on a run. Substitute Darrell Dillard plunged from the six-yard line for the final Blue Devil TD.

Salem Posts Seventh Win

SALEM—Coach Earle Bruce's Salem High Quakers finished another winning football season and made a strong bid for state rating by sidetracking visiting Leetonia, 21-8, here Friday night.

It was the seventh win of the season for the state's 17th ranked team, loser only to Cleveland John Marshall and powerful Brookfield.

Lou Slaby, giant 200-pound fullback, led Salem's scoring with two touchdowns on short plunges in addition to a plunge for a conversion.

Ralph Ehrhart, flashy halfback, scored the third on a short buck from two yards out. Ben Jones booted one of two placement attempts.

Jim Grove scored Leetonia's only touchdown on a 45-yard run which climaxed a drive of 67 yards. Terry Tilley, quarterback, passed to end Dave Macry for the conversion.

The defeat was Leetonia's fourth in nine games against four victories and a tie. Salem had a 2-1 record in 1957, losing only to East Palestine.

Hancock Fishing Club Postpones Its Meeting

Officials of the Hancock County Fishermen's Club today announced postponement of next Tuesday night's meeting at the New Cumberland Veterans of Foreign Wars home until sometime in December.

The action was taken when Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. of Moundsville, guest speaker, said that the press of other business made it impossible for him to be present Tuesday.

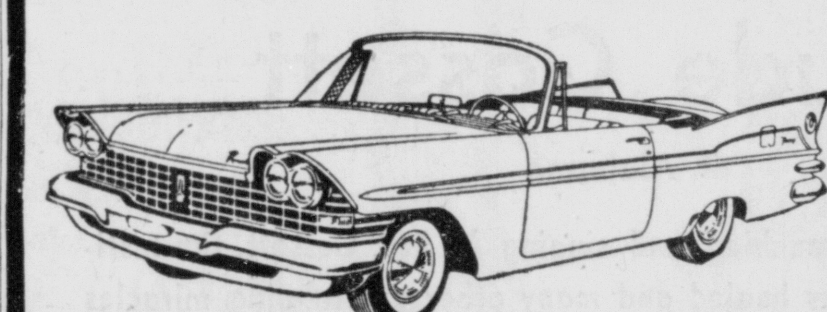

He assured the club, however, that he would be on hand for the meeting in December.

East Palestine Tops Clippers By 28-0 Score

East Palestine High's undefeated Bulldogs, scoring in every quarter, outclassed Columbiana's Clippers with speed, power and a strong defense in racking up win No. 8 Friday night at Columbiana, 28-0.

The East Liverpool district's scoring leader in 1957, fullback Beau Bell, paved the way for Palestine's victory by scoring a pair of touchdowns and sparking the offensive attack.

Speedster George Morris scored another on a 95-yard dash, and end Jim Knight added the fourth for the winners by picking up a Columbiana fumble and striding 30 yards for a touchdown. Morris, probably the fastest halfback in the district, also rushed for a conversion.

Coach Bob Mallory's Bulldogs, ranked in the state's top 20 last week, have only to dispose of Belaire St. John's next week to finish the 1958 season with a perfect record.

Palestine scored two points on a safety when Knight trapped Columbiana's Spratt in the end zone. The winners were pounding away on Columbiana's goal line when the game ended.

Musial Clouts Homer As Cards Defeat Japs

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP) — Stan "The Man" Musial slammed a three-run homer in the first inning today to start the St. Louis Cardinals rolling toward a 5-1 victory over Japan's All Stars.

Musial battered the 30,000 American and Japanese fans at Heiwa-dai Stadium to their feet when he hoisted the ball 400 feet into the right center field bleachers to give the Cards a 3-0 lead.

It was Musial's first homer of the tour, and the Cards' eighth win against two losses in the 16 game series.

The Redbirds battered four Japanese pitchers for eight hits, including a double by outfielder Wally Moon.

Lane Defeats Godih, Wants Shot At Busso

By JACK HAND
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Kenny Lane, the No. 1 lightweight contender, is willing to fight Johnny Busso for the right to box Joe Brown for the title.

Busso's name was kicked around this week after he upset Brown in Miami.

"If they are talking about Brown and Busso, why not match me with Busso for an elimination," said Lane after scraping past Lahouri Godih on a split 10-round decision Friday night.

Jack Barrett, International Boxing Club matchmaker, was more interested in pairing Lane with Carlos Ortiz, the No. 3 boy in the rankings.

Jack Kearns, copilot of Lane, still has his eye on a rematch with Brown who beat the Muskegon, Mich., southpaw at Houston in July.

Lane did little to help himself Friday night in a dreary bout with Godih, the Algerian from Oran who now lives in Paris. They spent most of the 10 rounds, clutching and wrestling while Referee Joe Palmer tried to pry them apart.

Palmer, who voted for Lane 7-3, almost caught a left hook from Godih when he broke up a clinch in the 10th.

In the dressing room after the fight, Jersey Jones, Godih's American manager, was bitter about the referee.

Among other things Jones called Palmer's work incompetent and his scoring way off the beam.

Lane's handlers couldn't understand the split decision. They thought it should have been unanimous. Palmer and Judge Harold McGrath (5-3-2) voted for Lane, but Judge Dick Albino scored it 6-4 for Godih. The AP card was 5-4-1 for Lane.

Midland Wins Beaver A Title By Routing Freedom, 40-7

Wellsville Falsters In Second Half, Bows To Mingo, 34-8

Leopards Get First Leg On New Trophy

BY ROB NIBLOCK

Closing out its season in excellent form before a chilled "Father's Night" crowd at Midland Stadium Friday, Coach John Petchel's Midland Leopards romped over winless Freedom, 40-7, and clinched the Beaver County Class A championship of the mid-western athletic conference.

With a 5-2-1 record prior to the contest, Midland was tied for the lead with New Brighton and Beaver—both of which lost last night.

Under a new system established by the Geneva College Alumni Association, Midland will receive a traveling trophy which can be kept by the school winning the title three consecutive years. The Geneva Cup, which had been in effect for 11 years, was retired.

Quarterback Ray Keller scored two touchdowns to pace the winning Leopards who registered markers in every period against Coach Robert Bezuk's air-minded Freedom Bulldogs.

Midland ground out heavy yardage overland, while Freedom, employing a variety of spread formations, relied almost completely on the capable passing arm of quarterback Rich Sabol.

Sabol completed 15 of 29 passes for 174 yards, which represented almost all of the Bulldog's yardage.

The smooth-functioning Leopards, who rolled up their highest scoring total of the season against the outmanned Bulldogs, drove consistently in all periods.

Keller handled all the scoring chores in the first stanza as he hit paydirt on dashes of 10 and 52 yards, respectively.

Sparked by a 32-yard run by halfback Nick Vuckovich, Midland drove from its own 18 to a TD in seven plays in the opening minutes of the fray.

With a little over three minutes remaining in the period, Keller faked deftly to his halfbacks and slanted off his own left tackle from the Midland 48 for a score. Capable placekicker Bill White booted both extra points to give the Leopards a 14-0 first-period lead.

Though controlling the pigskin for most of the second period, the Leopards were able to generate only one scoring drive—one which covered 72 yards in 12 plays.

Fullback Dean Frederick, who ran five successive times after Midland had moved to the Freedom 28, bulled his way over from the one at 5:42. White converted the extra point.

Seldom using the forward pass, Midland backs continued to run roughshod over the Freedom defenders in the second half.

On the opening play of the third quarter, halfback Lou Steele burst off left tackle at the Midland 33 and dashed 64 yards before being heeled down at the Freedom three-yard line.

On the next play, Keller handled to Steele who went over standing up. White made good on his fourth straight conversion. Freedom then handled the ball but briefly, and the Leopards were on the march again.

Starting at its own 33, Midland punched across its fifth touchdown nine plays later when quarterback Ken Russell swept his own right end for five yards.

In a desperate attempt to register, Freedom jammed the air-lanes with passes and succeeded in hurling its way to a TD with 4:32 remaining in the game.

Starting at its own 46, Freedom went the distance on only three passes, the big one being a 31-yarder which placed the Bulldogs in position at the 8. From there Sabol hit end Gene Smith who was all alone in the end zone. Halfback John Bashaar kicked the extra point.

With only seconds remaining, Keller passed to Vuckovich, for a TD with the fleet halfback measuring off most of the distance which the 45-yard play covered.

Irons Beaten By 19-0 Count

Ironton High's Irons found too much of a problem to overcome and dropped their fifth game of the season to neighboring Springfield, 19-0, Friday night at Springfield.

Dick Griffith paced Springfield's scoring with two touchdowns, while Jack Everett tossed a six-yard pass to Denny Hackathorn for another.

Griffith, a 240-pounder, scored on runs of 20 and 9 yards in sparking Springfield to its third victory of the year against five defeats. Everett's pass to Hackathorn climaxed a 60-yard march by the Tigers.

Ironton's only major scoring chance came in the third quarter when a drive was halted at Springfield's 5-yard-line on downs.

Springfield, in defeating the Irons for the third straight year, finished with 214 yards gained rushing to Ironton's 58 and had a 15-5 edge in total first downs.

Ironton concludes its regular season schedule at home next week against Yorkville. Coach Fred Sims' club owns two victories this year.

Tigers Suffer Fifth Loss Of Grid Season

Paced by a pair of fleet halfbacks, Mingo struck for four touchdowns in the second half to hand Coach Ken Wood's Wellsville Tigers their fifth setback of the season, 34-8, Friday night at Mingo Stadium.

Halfback Jim D'Alesio scored the first three touchdowns for Coach George Zaezalo's Indians, who concluded their season last night with a 6-3 record.

Bob Delpesen scored Wellsville's only touchdown as the Tigers battled Mingo on even terms in the first half. But in the second half, the Indians utilized their flashy halfbacks—D'Alesio and Bob Fuscado—on a pitch out specialty to either side to crumble the Tiger defenses.

Only in the second period could Wellsville contain the high-powered Indian offense which rolled up 13 first downs to the Tigers' 10.

An injury to Wellsville quarterback Bob Kiggins in the third period sidelined him for the remainder of the contest, hampering the Tiger passing attack.

Early in the first period, Wellsville recovered a Mingo fumble at the host's 20 yard-line and Kiggins passed to end Bob Brown on the next play to place the ball at the two from where Delpesen plunged over for the tally. Kiggins added the extra points on a keeper.

Mingo returned the kick off to the Wellsville 48, and on the first play from scrimmage D'Alesio took a pitch out from quarterback Howard Mallett and went the distance for the first Indian TD. Bill Criss ran the extra points to deadlock the game.

Early in the third period, Mingo began a scoring march at its own 47, racked up four straight first downs, and got its second touchdown when D'Alesio plunged over from the three-yard line.

Later in the period, D'Alesio went 23 yards for another Mingo tally, with Jay Bellopatrick's drop kick attempt for the extra point failing.

Fuscado went 45 yards for a TD and Mallett threw 43 yards to Bellopatrick for the Indians' fourth-period scores. Dick Angelica ran the extra points after the second tally.

Sentenced To Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—James I. Milak, 36, has been sentenced to die in the electric chair March 27 for a double slaying. His lawyer said Friday there would be no appeal. Three judges here convicted Milak last week for the Oct. 2, 1957 murders of Milak's former sweetheart, Lillie Mikulak, and her husband of a few days, Steve Mikulak.

2 Legislators Eye Post Of House Clerk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two state representatives nearing the end of their terms are reportedly seeking the $12,000-a-year job of clerk in the Ohio House.

Reports say Democrats Arthur H. Milleson of Harrison County and John J. Lynch of Mahoning County are angling for the job of House Clerk Carl Guess. The Carroll County Republican will lose his post when the Democrats take control of the Legislature next year.

Milleson is a Freeport insurance man who did not seek reelection to a fifth term. Lynch, a Youngstown attorney, lost in his bid for a fifth term when he failed to get the Democratic nomination in the May primary election.

Other reports say Rep. Jesse Yoder (R-Montgomery), a four-term member, is angling for the majority floor leader. Yoder is backing Rep. James A. Lantz for House speaker.

In the race for Senate majority leader, Sen. Frank W. King (D-Lucas) is said to have a slight edge over Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning). Friends of King and Carney, elected to their fourth and fifth terms, respectively, say the two have agreed to avoid a deadlock that might permit a third contender to win the post.

U.S. Sets Auction To Raise Money For Operations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately three billion dollars in federal securities will be auctioned next week to raise money for government operations during the rest of 1958.

The Treasury announced Friday the 214-day tax anticipation bills will be sold to the highest bidders—with the difference between the face value and the accepted bid determining the effective interest rate.

The Treasury set 1:30 p. m. EST Friday, Nov. 14, as the deadline for bidding on the securities. The bills, all to be dated Nov. 20, will mature June 22 and the government will accept them at face value in payment of taxes due June 15.

Although the sale of the bills is expected to bring sufficient cash to operate the government through the end of the year, Treasury officials said it probably will be necessary to borrow an additional 4 to 4½ billion dollars in the first three months of 1959.

Modern Cathedral Replaces Philippines' Historic Church

By MARIO ROXAS

MANILA (AP)—A modern cathedral has risen from the same hallowed spot where, four centuries ago, a small wooden church served as the first seat of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the Philippines.

The new cathedral—built mainly from money and material contributed by Catholics in Japan, the United States, Spain, and the Philippines—will cost an estimated $1,850,000 when finished.

It is being built on the ruins of its predecessor, which was destroyed by American artillery shells and bombs during the liberation of Manila in 1945.

Dedication will be Dec. 8, Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

The Instituto Internazionale di Arte Liturgica of Rome designed the interior of the church, which will have a crypt below the main altar to serve as a tomb for archbishops of Manila.

The bodies of the last two archbishops of Manila, Msgr. Michael J. O'Doherty, an Irishman, and Msgr. Gabriel Reyes, a Filipino, will be the first interred in the crypt.

Algeria Vote Commission Faces Crisis

ALGIERS (AP)—This is a weekend of crisis for Algeria's Central Vote Commission.

Too few North Africans want to run for the 70 seats Premier de Gaulle's government has allotted the revolt-torn territory in the French Parliament to be elected Nov. 28-30. And the deadline for filing is Sunday midnight.

Lists of candidates were on record today from only four of Algeria's 18 electoral districts.

The commission, made up of French lawyers and magistrates, worked feverishly by telephone and in conferences at a waterfront palace to speed up entries and meet de Gaulle's demand that at least two-thirds, or 46, of the Algerian members of the new Parliament be Moslems.

Assigned to assure honest and free voting, the commission worked in an atmosphere heavy with:

1. Political bickering between French colonists of center and right wing groups.

2. Apathy of the Moslems, who make up 90 per cent of the four million voters, plus a marked disinclination of their moderate Arab and Berber leaders to run for Parliament and thereby become spotlighted targets for nationalist rebels.

3. Preponderant influence of the French army over Algerian affairs, even though the army — which helped put over the vote for de Gaulle's Fifth Republic constitution in September—is banned this time from political campaigning of any kind.

6 Countians Receive Oath Of Citizenship

Six Columbiana County residents received naturalization papers Friday afternoon in an impressive ceremony in which Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp gave a brief talk on the history of United States and the responsibilities the new citizens assume. He also administered the oath of citizenship.

Receiving naturalization, with country of origin, were Angela Cagniani, 522 1st Ave., East Liverpool, Italy; Daniel Franklin Leidy, 227 3rd St., Wellsville, Canada; Joseph Mary Ciricosta, Salem, Italy; Yoshimi Stiffler of Salem, Japan; Hisako Usami Klemann of Lisbon R. D. 4, Japan, and Elizabeth Zeigler of Hanoverton R. D. 4, Germany.

The Japanese girls will be known as Mary Stiffler and Susan Klemann.

Fire

bish hasn't been determined, they said.

The fire caught the warehouse and a corner of the lunchroom and burned down a 220-volt line which was arcing dangerously when firemen arrived.

Workers in the election board's office said the lights started to flicker, the first they were aware of the blaze. There also were reports of an explosion but firemen said they have been unable to trace the cause.

McElowney said he, four employees and several customers fled. When they heard the explosion, McElowney said they thought a stack of canned goods had fallen in the rear.

He estimated his stock at $10,000 and said there was about $8,000 insurance.

A pumper and aerial ladder along with five firemen from Central were the first to arrive at the scene, followed shortly by a pumper from Pleasant Heights.

The pumper from Central went to Rural Ln. while the aerial ladder pulled up in front on W. 6th St. and a ladder was raised to check the building for occupants. A second alarm brought a truck and two men from the North Side station and one fireman returned to Central for the emergency truck so Scott Air-Paks would be available for the firemen.

Two off-duty firemen responded quickly and were of great help, Pelley said, because the department laid three lines on the fire, including 1000 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose and 250 feet of 1 1/2-inch line. Pelley said he was unable to enter the grocery because of the dense smoke and then entered the restaurant to find the fire had spread there.

Firemen donned the air-paks to enter the grocery with a line and another line also was laid into the restaurant. The air-paks were purchased with funds collected from city's income tax repealed at Tuesday's election.

Police moved quickly to block off the section, rerouting east-bound traffic over Jackson St. to W. 5th and W. 7th Sts.

Safety-Service Director Dan Maggiani today commended the firemen and police for their efficient work and cited the "esprit" of the two departments.

He pointed out several off-duty firemen and police came to the scene without being summoned when they learned of the blaze.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, praised the work of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence, Maggiani and several volunteers for carrying the board's records to the mayor's office in City Hall.

O'Hanlon said poll books, abstracts and summary sheets of Tuesday's election along with registration records were removed. The abstracts were 90 per cent complete, he said.

He pointed out the board carries insurance but no monetary value could be placed on the records and figures of the election.

Man Suffers Burns

Fighting Gas Flame

An East End man was burned on the arm Friday night while trying to fight a gas fire at his home, firemen reported. Elmer Stewart, 1011 St. George St., was treated for burns on the right arm while apparently trying to cap a gas line which ignited at a joint, firemen said.

Firemen said there was no shut-off in the house and Stewart finally had to go outside and turn the gas off at the meter. The blaze burned a two-foot hole in the rug, they said. The alarm was received at 7:27 p. m. while firemen still were cleaning up equipment from the downtown blaze.

GOOCHLAND, Va. (AP)—Douglas Lane, 15 and a husky football player, doesn't limit his talent to the gridiron. He baked the prize cake for the third consecutive year at the Goochland-Powhatan Louisiana county fair.

Official Count Made On Tuesday's Voting

chairman of a committee that supported Stacey, reported receipts and expenditures of $461.86.

The official canvass showed only minor changes from the unofficial vote tabulation. O'Hanlon said. The total vote cast in the county was 39,837, a gain of 11 over the unofficial total.

Besides certifying the results to state officials, the election board also will certify the result of East Liverpool's ordinance repealing the city income tax to City Council, O'Hanlon said.

The official count showed 5,368 for repeal and 3,477 opposed. There were 5,102 in favor of repealing the money already collected and 3,695 opposed, and 5,790 for prohibiting a new tax without a vote of the people and 3,049 opposed.

Two other Democrats who won seats in the election already have filed expense statements, O'Hanlon added.

Frank C. Wilson, of Wellsville, elected to a full term as county commissioner succeeding Galen H. Greenisen, reported receipts of $75 and expenses of $328.43 while Kenneth Bell, also of Wellsville, said he received $20 and spent $611.74 in his campaign for auditor.

Peterson said he spent $345.16 in his unsuccessful campaign for the unexpired term of clerk of courts.

Columbiana County commissioners reported they had no expenses in supporting a two-tenths of a mill levy for the general health district and a $125,000 bond issue for a detention home.

Real Sleepy Driver

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Judge Vernon D. Hitchings Jr. doesn't doubt the wisdom of pulling off the road and taking a nap if a driver is sleepy. But he fined a motorist $10 here when officers testified the car was parked in the middle of a busy intersection.

British Anger Flares Over Cyprus Acts

LONDON (AP) — Public anger mounted in Britain today over the killing of British civilians on Cyprus.

Demands for tougher measures against terrorists who have struck with deadly regularity against 10 British civilians in six weeks, came from all sides.

Some members of the ruling Conservative party have pressed Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd for stern action.

Conservative Robert Speir will request appointment of a military governor for Cyprus in the House of Commons next Wednesday, it was reported.

Support for the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer as military governor on Cyprus was reported growing in some parliamentary circles.

Templer, former chief of Britain's imperial general staff, scored successes against jungle terrorists during his tenure as British commander in Malaya six years ago. The present governor of Cyprus is a civilian, Sir Hugh Foot.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said "Present leadership on Cyprus, both civilian and military, is being called in question."

The Telegraph accused Archbishop Makarios, exiled Greek Cypriot leader, of being the "author of these murders."

It also accused the Greek Orthodox churchman of wrecking attempts by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to settle the dispute between Greek and Turkish Cypriots on the future of the island, now a British possession.

Five Lorain Men Convicted, Fined On Lottery Count

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Five Lorain men were convicted and fined in Municipal Court Friday on charges of possessing lottery tickets and promoting schemes of chance.

A sixth man was found guilty of possessing lottery tickets, but the second charge was dismissed.

Fines totaling $2,650 and combined sentences of 60 days were imposed against the men, arrested in a raid Sept. 7. Fifty-seven days of the jail sentence were withheld pending good behavior.

The five are: Miguel Cancel, 38; Augustine D. Rivera, 41; Dario Rodriguez, 35; Lorenzo Cancel, 32; and Jose V. Bonilla, 32. Found guilty on only one charge was Santiago P. Zayas, 41.

At the time of the raid, Police Chief Frank L. Pawlak said the gambling operation was based on a numbers game originating in Puerto Rico and had an estimated yearly take of one million dollars.

Piers For New Bridge At Rochester Inspected

The sub-structure and piers of the Rochester-Monaca toll bridge were found satisfactory by four inspecting groups Thursday.

Inspections were made by the Beaver County Municipal Authority, the American Bridge Co., the Dravo Corp. and the firm of Michael Baker, Jr.

American Bridge will start construction on the super-structure in January. The bridge will be open late next summer for traffic, which will be several months ahead of schedule.

The average American eats about 1,540 pounds of food a year.

Hope Gem Is Jeweler's Gift To Institution

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hope diamond, a million-dollar gem with a three-century legend of curse and tragedy, is en route to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington as the gift of a New York jeweler.

Gem dealer Harry Winston will donate the Hope—largest of the world's blue diamonds—to the institution for display in the Hall of Gems and Minerals. It is being shipped to Washington by registered mail. Postal rates will exceed $150.

Winston decided to donate the 44½-carat oval stone in order to help establish in Washington a collection of jewels to rival those of the other capitals of the world.

The midnight-blue diamond, not quite the size of a 50-cent piece, has been insured by various owners for one to two million dollars. Winston insured it for a million. It will cost the Smithsonian nothing.

Winston said Friday there will be a presentation ceremony Monday morning.

He said he has turned down four offers for the gem since he acquired it in 1949 from the estate of Evelyn Walsh McLean. Mrs. McLean, wife of a former owner of the Washington Post and one of the capital's best known hostesses, bought the Hope in 1911 for a reported $154,00
